Extraordinary access was given the Lake County Historical Society coordinators, Cheryl McClellan and Jim Skrocki and their design team Marian Redmond and Chuck Nagy in creating this unique exhibit.

Many thanks go to the generosity of Mrs. Gene Schreckengost, Viktor's second wife, the Schreckengost Foundation and its archivist, Craig Bara for their cooperation and desire to share Viktor with the public.

This exhibit reaches far deeper than the typical exhibit of Schreckengost pieces; this exhibit tells the never before shared story of Viktor's 40-year marriage to Daisy Nadine Averill, known as Nadine. Pieces never before exhibited will be shared with the public including actual furnishings from their home, Nadine's art work, and the numerous poignant cards, letters and posters he made her during their years together.

Unique exhibit pieces include the cardboard "dream home" they never built, Nadine's candid "journal entries" scattered throughout the exhibit, even the actual journal notes Viktor wrote after Nadine's unexpected death of an aneurism.
